SA ARTISTS/CURATORS ONLY

Adhocracy is Vitalstatistix's national hothouse, supporting the creative development of new experimental and multidisciplinary arts projects. Artists from around Australia join us to create and converse over the first weekend of Spring. This year's tenth anniversary edition of Adhocracy will be preceded by a national experimental art exchange.

Adhocracy is focused on supporting new works in their early stages of development. Selected artists spend time in an open studio environment over four intense days; audiences engage with artists and their creative process through a public program of artist talks and work-in-progress showings presented across three evenings. We welcome applications from established and early career artists across theatre, live art, dance, sound, installation, visual art and other experimental practices.
